

LOST HIS MIND.

Dr. George Candler, of Atlanta, in a Bad Mental Condition.

HIS ANTICS AT A MACON HOTEL.

He Throws Chairs from a Window, and Insults Some Wild Creature in A Room—Other News.

Macon, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—Dr. George C. Candler, of Atlanta, created a sensation in Macon today about noon. Dr. Candler and wife arrived here about a week ago from Atlanta and became guests at the Brown house, where they have been staying ever since, they occupying a front room on the first floor facing Fourth street and opposite the union passenger depot. It was understood that Dr. Candler came here for rest and recuperation. His wife is exceedingly pretty and his mental condition having been considered temporarily bad from deep brooding over the death of his child, who was run over and killed by an electric car a short time ago in Atlanta. Ordinarily Dr. Candler is a man of brilliant intellect, a charming conversationalist and quite handsome. He is about thirty-seven years old. His wife is exceedingly pretty and graceful.

This morning between 11 and 12 o'clock persons on Fourth street in the vicinity of the depot and Brown house were startled to see Dr. Candler half undressed at the window of a room in the Brown house, wildly gesticulating and apparently in the act of jumping out of the window. Presently he tore down the curtains of the window and then threw a chair out of the window, violently shook some wires near the window and continued to make other wild demonstrations.

Soon a large and excited crowd gathered in the street and watched in astonishment the antics of Dr. Candler. Policemen and sundry persons went up to the room to see what was the matter with the man. None in the crowd on the street knew who he was at the time, but afterward learned he was Dr. Candler. On entering the room he was found in a wild state. He imagined that he was locked in the room with some terrible creature who wanted to kill him. His wife had already previously left the room in flight. After awhile Dr. Candler was quieted and at this writing is resting peacefully in his room at the hotel and his wife is with him.

Dr. Candler temporarily became insane, but with rest and quiet it is thought he will soon be all right.

It is said that Atlanta relatives have been telegraphed to come and take him home. During his stay in Macon Dr. Candler has been under the treatment of Dr. Mathis, of this city. Only once prior to today during his stay at the Brown house has he betrayed any special sign of mental hallucination, and that was a night or two ago, when he fancied some one was trying to bore holes through the walls of his room to kill him, and he plugged the holes with chewing gum.

Dr. Candler represents the Atlanta Electric Equiptise Company. About a year ago he was here as the agent of the Helvetia Milk Company and gave stereopticon views. During their stay at the Brown house Dr. and Mrs. Candler have made many friends by reason of their intellectuality and charming personality.

Will Mr. Jennings Resign?
The leading question in church circles in Macon is, will Mr. W. B. Jennings resign the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of this city to accept the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church, of Birmingham. There is an impression with many that he will accept the call to Birmingham, though some think that he will not. Mr. Jennings is in Birmingham today, where he has an engagement to preach in the church to which he has been called. The congregation of the Birmingham church is exceedingly anxious to have Mr. Jennings. He has preached there before and they were charmed with him. There were no services at his church today on account of his absence. The people of Macon, irrespective of creed, will greatly regret it if Mr. Jennings decides to go to Birmingham.

A Grand Banquet.
The celebration of St. Patrick's day, which commenced yesterday morning in Macon, closed tonight with a grand banquet, given by the members of the Hibernal and Emmet Clubs at the Emmet hall. There were two hundred covers. The feast was served Ulman & Williams. The music and speeches of the occasion were very fine. The principal address was delivered by Hon. P. J. O'Connor, an able lawyer and eloquent orator of Savannah. He responded to the toast, "Ireland as We Hope to See It." The distinguished gentleman was frequently applauded. The programme of the evening was as follows:

Opening address by Father J. B. Quinn, chaplain of the division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.
Music.
Song, "The Harp that Once Through Tara's Halls"—Hibernian quartet.
Toast, "The Day We Celebrate"—Rev. Father Brisian, president of St. Stanislaus.
Vocal music, "St. Patrick's Day."
Toast, "Ireland as We Hope to See It"—P. J. O'Connor, Savannah.
Music, solo, "The Celtic Lament."
Toast, "The United States, the Land of Our Adoption"—P. J. Duffy.
Solo and chorus, "Star Spangled Banner"—Hibernian quartet.
Toast, "Ireland, the Land of Our Birth"—James Garrity, Graham, Ga.
Song, "I'm Still of the Rile, Mary."
Toast, "Robert Emmet"—John C. Noone.
Solo and chorus, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean"—Hibernian quartet.
Toast, "Ancient Order of Hibernians"—Ed Huthnance.
Baritone solo, "Killarney"—John J. Noone.
Toast, "The Ladies"—R. E. Butler.
Song and chorus by the Hibernian quartet.
Toast, "Ireland a Nation"—John M. Daly.
Recitation, "Shamus O'Brien"—P. J. Duffy.
Vocal solo, John J. Noone.
Recitation, Ed Sheridan.
Song and chorus, grand finale, "God Save Ireland."

Songs and Prayers.
The various churches of the city were largely attended today. Rev. Hugh Oliver, of South Carolina, preached at the Tattall Square Baptist church this morning and tonight. It is said that Mr. Oliver may be called to the pastorate of this church. To-night at 7:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church, Rev. Mr. Taylor preached the third of his series of sermons on "The Life of Christ," his subject tonight being "With-drawals." Rev. Dr. Monk returned a few days ago from Alabama, where he delivered an address, and occupied his pulpit today at the Washington Street Methodist church. A very enjoyable experience meeting was held this morning at the South Macon church. A similar meeting was also held at the East Macon Methodist church. Rev. E. G. Sewell, a veteran minister of the Christian church, of Nashville, Tenn., father of Mr. A. M. Sewell, of Macon, preached at the Christian church this morning. Rev. P. T. Reese, of Christ Episcopal church, preached tonight another of the series of sermons recently commenced by him, his subject being, "The Bible and Its Growth, or the Higher Criticism." This afternoon Mr. George S. Jones delivered an address at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association on the subject, "The Christian Soldier."

A Business Trouble.
This evening in the office of the clerk of the superior court Mr. W. C. Lyon, the well known retail dry goods merchant, died a bill for receiver for the W. C. Lyon & Co. Mr. Dennis Mulligan, of the Union Savings Bank and Trust Company, was appointed receiver. Liabilities about $18,000 and assets about $40,000. The receivership had been expected for several weeks. Captain Lyon, who is really the firm of Lyon & Co., says he expects soon to straighten out the business and is running as smoothly as ever. Mr. Lyon used also to operate a large dry goods store at Griffin.

THE JOINT DEBATE AT ATHENS.
Arrangements Made for the Meeting of the Gubernatorial Candidates.
Athens, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—The committee of arrangements for the joint debate between the gubernatorial candidates yesterday morning met at the city hall chamber and decided upon the details of the debate.

The new opera house was chosen as the scene of the contest and Mr. R. L. Bloomfield was selected unanimously to preside over the meeting and Mr. David C. Barrow was elected alternate to preside in case Mr. Bloomfield could not attend.
General Evans was represented by Judge S. M. Herrington, Mr. E. R. Hodgson, Mr. W. A. Jester, Mr. T. P. Vincent and Captain W. P. Welch; Mr. William B. T. S. Mell, Mr. T. W. Reed, Mr. T. S. Methvin, Captain W. B. Burnett and Mr. W. C. Ash.

Judge Herrington was made chairman and Mr. Reed secretary of the meeting. The names of Messrs. A. L. Mitchell, E. R. Hodgson and T. S. Mell were proposed for chairman of the debate, but these gentlemen declined to accept the position. Mr. Bloomfield, and he was elected unanimously.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Hodgson and Burnett was appointed to see after getting excursion rates on all railroads for that day, and Messrs. Herrington and Mell were appointed a committee to rent the opera house and look after all further details of arrangement.

The Mary Washington Entertainment.
Mrs. M. A. Lipscomb, who has been preparing an entertainment for the benefit of the Mary Washington Association, has decided to give the performance on Tuesday, March 27th, and the following programme is announced:
Part 1.—A farce, "No Cure, No Pay." Characters not named.
Part 2.—Easter bells, an artistic drill, consisting of marches, fancy figures and tableaux.
Part 3.—Pantomime, "Where Are You Going, My Pretty Maid?" Song by Miss Ruby Mandeville. Accompanist, Miss Barnett.

The following ladies and gentlemen will take part in the drill:
Misses Hunnicutt, R. Hodgson, Lumpkin, M. Hodgson, L. Carlton, H. Carlton, Mandeville, Jackson, Moss, Ervin, Dulose, Talmage.

The People Understand It.

It is certain that the policy of the patronage heeler, dictated from Washington, is to make an endorsement of all the acts of the administration the gauge and measure of democracy. That policy is already cropping out and it will be in full bloom in a very few weeks.

We have already referred to some of the symptoms. Those who demand the redemption of the democratic pledges, and who insist that all democrats stand on the principles laid down in the platform, are denounced as soreheads, and populists, and enemies of the administration. The platform is no longer the test. Principles are to go for nothing. Pledges are not worth the paper they are printed on. Those who insist on platforms, and pledges, and principles are simply populists and soreheads and enemies of the administration.

This sort of talk comes hot out of the bowels of goldbuggery. Democratic principles are to be eliminated from all consideration in order to build up in Georgia and in the south a party in sympathy with the schemes of the organized money power of Wall street. The platform is to be dragged to the lumber room or to be used as kindling wood for the bale-fires of the eastern Shylocks.

Now, the question arises, can a goldbug party be built up in the south out of democratic timber? The patronage heeler are keen for it, we know. They have the plans and specifications all drawn up and are ready to exhibit the rear elevation to an astonished public. But are the people ready for it? We are inclined to think not.

A somewhat similar attempt has been going forward in North Carolina, but the leading democratic papers there, among them The Wilmington Messenger and The Charlotte Observer, have lifted up a warning voice. "We firmly believe," says The Messenger, "that the true interests of our people are involved in standing faithfully by democratic colors—not by faithless democrats—not by the betrayers of promises and democratic law in congress—and 'abiding in the ship' to the end of the cruise." The Observer declares: "It is obvious that the party in this state (North Carolina) cannot be organized for battle in a line of endorsement of the Cleveland administration."

This is the word from North Carolina. Does the attitude of the party there show that the democrats of the state are soreheads, populists and enemies of the administration? No candid person will say so; no honest mind will entertain such an idea. It shows that the people there, in common with the people throughout the country, are determined that the party shall not be held responsible for any collapse in the democratic policy.

We repeat, therefore, that as far as Georgia is concerned, the successor of Senator Colquitt must be a man who stands on the democratic platform squarely and without equivocation. He must be a man who endorses democratic principles without any hair-splitting distinctions. He must be a man who is in favor of making both gold and silver the standard money metals of the country.

We advise those who do not answer to that description to stay out of the contest, for they are sure to be humiliated by defeat.

Clean Up the City!

We have had a very mild winter and the indications all point to an early spring.

The northern ports are beginning their preparations to fight yellow fever and smallpox, and the sooner we begin the better. The work of purification and sanitation should be carried on in every southern city and town. It is true that we have never yet had an epidemic in Atlanta, but that is no reason why we should not guard against it. Vaccination has been tested as a preventive of smallpox and no community can afford to disregard it. The board of health is entirely right in its vaccination movement, and the citizens who oppose it are very much in the wrong.

While we have the time and the money suppose that we clean up the city! Health is the biggest factor in the growth of a community, and its influence should not be ignored. When we take care of Atlanta's health interests we take care of the vital prosperity of the city.

The Roll of Honor.

Every citizen of Atlanta should make it his first business this morning to place his name upon the roll of honor as a subscriber to the fund for the holding of the Cotton States and International exposition.

The appointment of committees to call upon classified lists of people has already been announced. These committees will set to work at once and by simultaneous work can cover the city in a short time.

The Constitution urges upon all citizens to make a ready response to the committees. No man should lag behind, and leave to others the burden of raising the fund. All will share alike in the benefits, and, therefore, all should be equally ready to contribute.

The firemen and the policemen have set a good example, which should be imitated by every other class of people in the city. Let the fund be closed up rapidly, and then let the directors can proceed to give direction to the work on Atlanta's greatest venture.

Let the Treatment Begin.

While the patronage heeler are talking about "attacks on the administration" we advise our readers to look carefully through all the newspapers that come to their hands and send us the first real attack on the administration that they can find. They will find none outside of republican newspapers. But they will discover that what the cuckoo organs call "attacks on the administration" are merely in the nature of appeals to the people not to desert their party because the financial pledges have been repudiated, or because there seems to be a tendency on the part of those in power to nullify the demands of the platform.

If all democrats who stand squarely on the platform and who believe that all its pledges ought to be promptly redeemed are soreheads, then the great majority of the voters should be treated for political eczema; and the sooner the treatment begins the better.

But the people want no Shylock doctor and no goldbug medicine.

The Silver Standard in Mexico.

The report of President W. G. Raoul, of the Mexican National railway, gives in an indirect way some very interesting facts concerning the effects which the single silver standard has on the business prosperity of a nation that is next door neighbor to a country where the single gold standard is in operation. These facts show beyond all question that, as between the two single standards, the silver standard is the one which affords the greatest stimulus to the industrial progress of a people, and gives them the largest prosperity.

In Mexico we see an actual demonstration of the facts which The Constitution has from time to time put forth in the shape of arguments. We have employed these facts as arguments, not to show that the single silver standard is preferable or even desirable as compared with the joint standard of gold and silver, but to show that there is nothing whatever in the threat of the goldbugs that the free coinage of silver here will throw us upon the single silver standard. We have stated the facts in order to show that even if free coinage by the United States did result in the single silver standard the people would be far more prosperous under it than they ever have been or ever can be under the single gold standard.

The report of President Raoul shows, in the first place, that the Mexican National railway has had a tolerably prosperous year, compared with the high average of prosperity in Mexico, and a most remarkably prosperous year when compared with the low average of railway prosperity in this country. The net income of the road over cost of working was $1,638,437 in Mexican currency—the equivalent of $1,310,750 in gold.

The road was built with foreign capital, and the interest on its bonds is payable in gold. The loss in exchange for the payment of this interest in gold amounts to $432,242. The New York Financial Chronicle, however, with a fatuous disregard of facts altogether laughable, turns the whole net income of the company into gold, and figures out that one-half of it has been lost through the depreciation of silver. As this conversion occurred in the office of The Financial Chronicle and nowhere else, we do not suppose that President Raoul and his prosperous railway will be bothered by the accompanying loss. Give the editor of The Chronicle a pencil, a piece of paper and a ten-cent cigar and he can upset the whole status in Mexico, and bring the National railway down to the level of our own roads that are now in the hands of receivers, or barely escaping receiverships by the skin of their teeth.

As a matter of fact, only enough of the net revenue to pay the interest on the bonded debt of President Raoul's road is converted into gold, and that transaction is accompanied by far less loss and embarrassment than the efforts of our own roads to pay the interest on their bonds in the face of the low prices and depression caused by the single gold standard. For President Raoul expressly states that silver has not depreciated in Mexico. Its purchasing power remains the same. In other words, the testimony of this eminent railway manager is to the effect that the silver standard is a stable standard. In Mexico the purchasing power of the silver dollar remains the same, neither increasing nor diminishing. Consequently there is stability in prices, in wages, and in gold; and the high premium on gold—or, to put the situation in commercial language—the high rate of foreign exchange is a constant stimulus to domestic trade and to domestic enterprise.

Thus, while President Raoul's road has a decreased amount of through traffic, which would have to be carried at low rates, it has a heavily increased volume of local freight which are hauled at higher rates. In addition to this, the rapid development of local industries, stimulated by the high rates of exchange (the gold premium), enables the company to purchase many of its supplies at home.

"One cannot help reflecting," remarks The Financial Chronicle, "how vastly different would be the position of the Mexican National today if the Mexican dollar were on a parity with gold instead of being so greatly depreciated." Bearing in mind the fact that the Mexican dollar will purchase as much in Mexico as it would twenty years ago, the reflection of The Chronicle is worth reflecting on. If the single gold standard were to go into operation in Mexico tomorrow every interest in the country, including the Mexican National, would promptly go into bankruptcy.

Let us all bear in mind the fact that at the Brussels conference the Mexican delegates declared that they were satisfied with the status in their own country. They were willing to agree to international bimetalism—that will-of-the-wisp invented by the Shylocks—but they did not urge it.

The most significant information received about what President Cleveland will do about the seigniorage bill is what The New York Evening Post says. That paper says the president has no intention of signing the bill. He does not think the necessary two-thirds vote to pass the bill over his veto can be obtained. The men who manage the president have heretofore managed the president. It is earnestly to be hoped they will fail this time.

Does The Macon Telegraph believe that this country cannot maintain the parity of gold and silver money if we enter upon the free coinage of silver without an agreement with Europe? If so, on what facts or arguments does it base its belief? The question is a very interesting one at this time.

If the administration would take its stand on the democratic platform there wouldn't be any soreheads in the country. Even the patronage heeler would cease to be goldbugs.

There is no lack of republicans in office at this time. Do the cuckoo believe that a casual statement of this fact is an attack on the administration?

The Macon Telegraph says that it is not a fair argument to label gold monetarism as John Sherman's policy. Goldbuggery is not a fair scheme. But The Telegraph will not deny that John Sherman is its prophet in this country.

When the senatorial contest comes off the people will not be in doubt as to where the candidates stand.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

The supreme court of New York city, in general term, has just rendered a decision to the effect that small children have the same rights on the streets as adults. The decision grew out of a case in which a five-year-old child was run over by a defendant's wagon, and had secured a verdict of $1,000 damages. The defense, on appeal, contended that the parents of the child were guilty of negligence in allowing the boy to be in the streets, and that the defendants were not responsible for such negligence. The court held otherwise, and placed the responsibility on the shoulders of the child's parents. It cannot be contended, says The Philadelphia Record, that such a ruling imposes any hardship upon drivers, since the common instincts of humanity should alone impel them to exercise the utmost vigilance, especially at crossings.

The New York Recorder says: "Here is something grand, old Wendell Phillips said many years ago: 'The mainspring of our progress is high wages—wages at such a level that the workingman can afford to live with pride over a home, can command leisure, go to lectures, take a newspaper and lift himself from the degrading level of the wage slave. That is the only way to get the masses of the people to take an interest in the progress of the nation. It is worth more than a thousand colleges, and makes armies and police superfluous.'"

The whole Cleveland policy—contracting our currency and inflating our imports—tends to break down what Wendell Phillips rightly called 'the mainspring of our progress,' which is 'high wages.'"

The Baltimore Sun of Wednesday, in reporting a lecture delivered the night before by Paul du Chailu, says, among other things: "Mr. du Chailu, after a little speech, called the Dolphin, and after a voyage of fifty-eight days, landed on the west coast of Africa, about two degrees north of the equator. The region he explored extended 500 miles on each side of the equator, and reached back into the interior 3,000 miles. It was all forest, some of the trees being 400 to 500 feet high. Mr. du Chailu found a large number of man-monkeys, and the account of his killing the first gorilla slain by a white man since the days of Hannibal, the Carthaginian general, created much applause."

SOUTHERN NEWS NOTES.

A farmer living near Dowling, Ky., was recently married to his seventh wife.

Near New Orleans a woman acted the part of a highwayman and secured $200 from two travelers at the point of a pistol.

In Robeson county, North Carolina, Ira H. Lee set fire to a pine tree on his farm. He was working under it, when the tree burned off and fell, killing him instantly.

Mention has been made of the serious sickness of Mr. Albert Johnson, the oldest living locomotive engineer. Mr. Johnson has recovered. He is over eighty-five years of age and is yet in the employ of a railway company in Raleigh.

Near Brenham, Tex., lives a man who has only one eye; the strange feature of his case being the fact that the place where the other eye should be is a blank, and has been so from birth.

A Florida man recently purchased a small orange grove. Shortly afterward, while digging near the roots of an orange tree, he unearthed a small box containing a quantity of gold Spanish dollars.

The negro, James Cowan, who was shot by Joe Patton at Marion, N. C., nearly two weeks ago, has under skillful treatment recovered sufficiently to be out, and going where he pleases. It is a remarkable case, however. He was shot with a .32-caliber pistol, the ball entering his left breast immediately above the heart, and lodging against the shoulder blade, where it is now.

JUST FROM GEORGIA.

A Georgia Morning.

All the winds a-gittin' louder,
An' the trees—they look surpris';
Foamy clouds, like bakin' powder,
Set a lazy sun to risin'.

An' the river, woke from sleepin',
Where the night was dark and chill;
Goes a-quarrelin' an' leavin'
Over every water-lyle.

Every wind is in a tussle
With the dewy leaves a-swingin',
An' you hear the fathers' rustle,
Of the birds that do the singin'.

OUR GREAT EXPOSITION.

"Bound to Be the Biggest."
From The Homeville, Ga. Home Journal. Atlanta is booming the exposition and her generous people are subscribing very liberally. It is bound to be the biggest thing the south ever had, and all the counties should have an exhibit there. Barnesville is no slow coach, and as we have so many advantages to offer people with money, etc., to locate here, we should advertise the town extensively, and by all means have an exhibit that will surpass any on the grounds. Our buggy factories, our yards, our fruit, our horses and cattle would attract much attention.

"A Great Exposition."
From The Quitman, Ga. Free Press.

Atlanta has raised a $200,000 fund for her great exposition next year. Atlanta always works for Atlanta and that's the reason her enterprises are always such big successes.

"Will Astonish the Natives."
From The Adel, Ga. News.

With $200,000 to start on and nearly two years' time, Atlanta can astonish the natives with the vastness and grandeur of her big show.

ABOUT THE GOVERNORSHIP.

The West Georgia News, commenting on Mr. Atkinson's Talbotton speech, says:

"It would be better for him if he would say less about the Atlanta ring. The whole thing smacks of demagoguery unworthy of a man aspiring to lofty position, and may start the suspicion that the speaker is not ignorant of Anglology. If Atlanta has any ring, it is not the Atlanta ring, but the Georgia ring. It is not Atkinson's time. He must wait till General Evans, who has long been a private in democratic ranks, and illustrated his state on fields where bullets flew thick and fast, receives some little consideration. That will be simple justice and best for the state—and that is where Talbotton stands by a large majority."

The Griffin Call sums up as follows: "The Atkinson followers in this section are becoming alarmed for fear delegates to the gubernatorial convention will be chosen before the people have made up their minds who they prefer. An overwhelming majority of the people of Georgia decided most emphatically that they would have none other than General Evans."

long before Mr. Atkinson made his announcement, and they are of the same opinion yet. The difference between the candidacy of General Evans and Mr. Atkinson is simply this: General Evans's candidacy is in response to the demands of the people."

The Oconee Enterprise says: "General Evans is not the candidate of Atlanta. He is the unanimous choice of the whole people. Of course the state is the largest, but transfer Atlanta someplace else and our state would be the smallest. Atlanta is the pride of the state of Georgia, and General Evans, our next governor, is the pride of us all."

The Valdosta Telescope says: "One of the best posted politicians in Georgia has written The Telescope the prediction that Atkinson will not carry as many counties in Georgia as Bacon carried in his campaign against Gordon. 'Twenty-five' he says, 'is an exaggerated estimate of the counties that will vote for him.'"

Says The Tennessean Chronicle: "We see from a few of our exchanges that Hon. W. Y. Atkinson is a candidate for governor. It is as easy to be a candidate for office as it is to slip down a greasy pole, but it is as hard to get elected as it is to climb one."

The Rome Argus says: "The people of Georgia are behind General Evans and they are pushing him to the front."

Atlanta correspondence Hartwell Sun: "From every section comes the report that the tidal wave for General Evans for governor is increasing, and his election is regarded as a foregone conclusion."

The Hapeville Playmate has this: "General Evans will win the laurels of the day as the most popular candidate, and Colonel Atkinson will be puzzled to know 'where he's at.'"

THE SENATORIAL RACE.

The Pike County Journal says in an editorial on Mr. Turner and the senate:

"It is the privilege of Mr. Turner, run for the senate or any other office, but he thinks his days in congress are about over. Is Georgia not a democratic state, and in favor of both gold and silver, as the standard money of the country—receiving the metals at the mint on equal terms and without charge for mintage? If this is true would it not be a lovely commentary on our consistency to turn about and send a man to the senate who has only recently proven himself a goldbug of the yellowest dye?"

The Journal would not vote for him for constable if he is a little tin god in the realm of goldbuggery, and the senate assembly will be elected with the distinct understanding that it is to choose a senator whose democracy is more than skin deep."

The Rome Tribune has the following editorial: "We printed an interesting communication from W. M. G., suggesting the Hon. Charles F. Crisp for senator, to succeed Senator Colquitt. Mr. Crisp's distinguished services to his state and his party command attention and would make him a formidable candidate in the event of his being elected before the legislature. 'W. M. G.' does not give Mr. Crisp too great praise, but we think he goes out of the way to refer to patronage as a means of corruption. So far as we know none of the members of congress from this state have any taint of that sort, though all of them have had a good deal of patronage at their disposal. Mr. Crisp is not known as a goldbug in the senatorial race who is likely to be corrupted by patronage. It would be unfortunate to handicap Mr. Crisp with such a reflection on his associates and competitors, and we are sure that the distinguished gentleman himself would misce no such reflection."

The Americus Times-Recorder says of the recent Turner meeting at Thomasville: "The twenty-one counties that got together to elect Turner the other day and put out Hon. Henry G. Turner for the senate have put their favorite son in the embarrassing attitude of being a candidate for two offices, a condition liable to knock Judge Turner's senatorial prospects into the next century. He is a candidate for re-election from the eleventh district and the voluntary movement of his indolent friends puts him squarely in the race for the senate. Judge Turner can't ask for the earth and get even a slice. He must say which and say very soon, or the storm will gather around his head and sweep him into private life."

The Fort Valley Leader wants to dispose of the senatorial matter in this way: "The Hon. Henry G. Turner is the best man for the effect that the heated campaign for United States senator will have on our primaries for selecting representatives. We think it would be a good plan for county mass meetings to provide, that each voter be allowed to express his preference for United States senator by putting the name plan would elect those who run for the legislature from the burden of the issue as well as bind those who are elected to the choice of the people."

Says The Lawrenceville News: "Congressman Turner's efforts to ride to success at the same time seems likely to prove a failure. He has evidently weakened himself as a senatorial candidate by his exhibition of greed for office unparalleled in the history of Georgia politics and absolutely repulsive to the people."

PROMINENT GEORGIANS.

Greensboro Herald-Journal: Hon. Alfred H. Colquitt is much improved in health, and announces that he will be a candidate for senator to succeed himself. He has done his duty at all times—and that is all any man can do.

Waynesboro True Citizen: Howard Palmer is making up the business of the Atlanta exposition that is to be with a rush. The minimum subscription of $300,000 is already in hand. Palmer is the Pat Watson of Atlanta.

Sylvania Telephone: As far as we can judge Hon. R. T. Nesbitt is in the lead for commissioner of agriculture. This is as it should be. He has been a true and faithful officer and deserves to be re-elected.

Cleveland Progress: Commissioner of Agriculture Nesbitt is very popular in this county. We hope to see him re-elected, for he deserves to be, for making the department the success that it is. We believe almost every county in this section will endorse Mr. Nesbitt.

WHAT WILL HE DO WITH IT?

Athens Banner: Mr. Cleveland will now be given a chance to show his hand in regard to silver. The Bland seigniorage bill has passed the senate just as it came from the house and will be sent to Mr. Cleveland on Monday. It now remains to be seen whether or not the president will override the demands of the people in this regard and veto the bill.

The issue is squarely put before the people, whether or not he will accede to the wishes of his people in regard to this important measure.

Albany Herald: To be consistent with his policy with reference to silver has been ever since he has been in office, this time the president will have to veto it, and if he vetoes it he will be going back on the democratic party. Thus the passage of the Bland bill by the democratic majority in congress places our democratic president in a very awkward position, between the money question, between the devil and the deep blue sea.

Macon Telegraph: It came apparent during the discussion of the measure that several senators who voted for the repeal of the Sherman law had "weakened" and were prepared to reverse their position on this point. Perhaps they were discouraged to do this by the assurance that they would not be more than ten days in the senate before the bill would be vetoed by the president who vetoed the bill.

HAM AND THE PLAY.

The Georgia Humorist Coming Down to Be in the Press Club Parlor.

A CHARACTERISTIC LETTER FROM HIM.

He Will Be Here Sure, and Will Make Many a Hearty Laugh—Other Names Added to the Cast.

"Snollygoster" Ham, cracker dialectician, humorist, editor, statesman, lecturer and prince of good fellows, is going to be one of the stars at the Press Club farce, April 6th.

Ham, coming down from the mountains with a fine old Piedmont breeze concealed about his person, with his solemn, clean-cut, ministerial face and twinkling eye, and he will create as many laughs to the square inch as Bill Nye or Mark Twain ever did in their palmy days.

Mr. Ham intimates that he will be here with both feet, and that is saying a great deal. He will be in the trim, primed for fun, and Atlanta people will never have an opportunity to see the famous Georgia cracker under such favorable conditions. He has been snugly cloistered in the mountains, with the exception of occasional lecturing tours, for several months, and has had nothing to do but think up humorous things and edit an exceedingly humorous paper. Both of these occupations are quite easy and natural with him, and he can do either without effort.

Mr. Ham is a born imitator and actor. His quaint dialect and his vast store of native Georgia stories fit him admirably for the field of a humorist. He is the best interpreter of Georgia cracker character that has yet been seen in Atlanta. He treats up all the little natural points of their speech and manners and has the happy faculty of reproducing them with the truest nature that characterizes the true artist.

Mr. Ham will be the following unique letter of acceptance: "Gainesville, Ga., March 17.—Mr. Robert L. Adamson, Dear Sir: Due and legal service of your supply to be on hand at the Press Club farce in Atlanta on the 6th of April, then and there to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, about something which I do not know anything about, is hereby acknowledged, and I have been so far out-classed in this regard by some novices in the business that I have given up in disgust and retired to the shades of journalistic Lathe, completely knocked out. Very truly yours, 'H. W. J. HAM.'"

The farce is progressing in most satisfactory style. There will be three female roles, essayed by Messrs. Joe Johnson, John Thompson and Julian Harris. These three young gentlemen are having the most elaborate costumes prepared and their appearance will be stunning. Many other names will be announced within the next few days as the cast is completed.

TOO MUCH MORPHINE

Miss Julia Solomon Took an Overdose Tuesday Night,

AND DIED EARLY YESTERDAY MORNING

Unconscious for Four Days, She Died Without Word of Explanation as to Whether It Was Accidental or Not.

Miss Julia Solomon, a young lady residing at 34 Formwalt street, died at 1 o'clock from the effects of a large dose of morphine taken Tuesday night.

From the time the drug was taken Tuesday night until her death yesterday morning, Miss Solomon did not recover consciousness or speak a single time.

Whether Miss Solomon took the deadly drug with suicidal intent or whether it was the mere accidental taking of an overdose can never be ascertained beyond question, as upon that point Miss Solomon was the only person qualified to speak. Her friends, however, believe and assert most emphatically that the lamentable tragedy was purely the result of accident.

Miss Solomon has been unwell for several days, although not sick enough to take to her bed. She has been out of employment for a month and has been at the house of her brother, Mr. W. J. Tucker, 34 Formwalt street. Miss Solomon was formerly employed as a saleslady at M. Rich & Bros. establishment. She was employed there for quite a long while.

It was found to be unconscious and gave symptoms of morphine poisoning. Dr. Charles Giddings was called in and announced that the young lady had taken an overdose of morphine. Her friends hardly through the night to rescue the young lady and although she was not restored to consciousness it was believed that she was out of danger.

Although saved from the immediate deadly effects of the drug, the dose created grave disorders from which the young lady could not be saved by all the medical skill of the hospital. The overdose of morphine caused kidney troubles and the latter caused the young lady's death.

The rumor of suicide was rife on the street, but Mr. Tucker, the young lady's brother-in-law, denied this last night.
"The morphine was taken," said he, "for a trouble which she had."

Dr. Giddings was called to say whether the young lady's death was suicide or not.
He attended her from first to last. No one knows of a single cause for suicide on the young lady's part.

Fulton street, Tuesday night, the 24th instant, to which the public are invited.

BACK TO CINCINNATI

The Last Mortal Remains of Mr. Max
Samuelson Are Taken

Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock Coroner
Patterson held an inquest over the dead body of Mr. Max Samuelson at the boarding house of Mrs. Strauss, 21 Madison street.

Mr. Samuelson had been suffering from disease of the heart, and yesterday took a fatal dose of morphine. The jury said, the direct effect of his malady.

Early in the forenoon hotel offerings of friends began to come in, and before the time for removing the body had passed the hall was literally banked with flowers.

Mr. Simon Samuelson, the deceased's brother, is a very prominent merchant of Albany Ga. He took with him the last mortal remains of his brother to the family burial ground in Cincinnati, leaving the city yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock via the East Tennessee and Georgia railroad.

The body of the deceased was escorted by the Southern Railway and Steamship Association. His friends in the office speak in the highest terms of Mr. Samuelson and all say that a man never had more friends.

A WEEK OF OPERA.

The Grau Company Will Begin Its Engagement Tonight.

SEILLER'S "DOROTHY" IS THE BILL

Something About the Company and the Opera Will Produce—Some Old Favorites and a Number of New Ones.

The Grau Opera Company arrived in the city last night after a tremendous week's business at Chattanooga, and will inaugurate their week's engagement here with a splendid representation of Seiller's beautiful work, "Dorothy," tonight at the Grand.
This is the original version of the opera and is said to far surpass any of the others in sweetness and dramatic action.

Besides this, the opera will be staged by the Grau Opera Company with a magnificence of costume and effects never seen here before in light opera presentations.

Manager Jules Grau brings with him this season the strongest and best singing company ever under his management and presenting three great novelties, such as "Dorothy," "Serp Ahoy," and "Paul Jones," never before seen in Atlanta
